Less Is More

As utilities bills skyrocket faster than you can say, "My electric bill this month was what?" everyone's looking for creative ways to save water and energy. But you don't have to tear apart your plumbing or start installing solar panels to help the earth and lower your bills. There are lots of simple, low-cost ways to make energy consumption around the house more eco-friendly. These easy tips for each room add up to savings that benefit your budget—and the world around you.
