Wise Words

Some men see things as they are ... and say why. I dream things that never were ... and say why not.

George Bernard Shaw

Dear Friend of Green Cleaning Products LLC,

It's winter ... with it comes the cold temperatures. For instance did you know if you forget to turn off your kitchen or bathroom ventilation fan, in just one hour, all the heated air in your home can be drawn out through an exhaust vent?

Thank you for all you do in greening our world! It's the little things that add up. Let me know what tips you have heard about.

Did You Know?

Turns out, there's no one keeping watch on how these words are being used. Unlike organic food, which now comes under the certification of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, there are no federal or industry standards for household cleaning products claiming to be "green." ... It is bad enough when you spend up to 15 minutes scrubbing scale off the shower walls. It is even worse for anyone who cleans four houses a day, five days a week, 50 weeks a year. That means that if you employ a cleaning service, the ones who scour your shower might be inhaling truly hazardous fumes, at three times the amount that would be allowed to spew from a factory.

Coffee with a Cause

Enlightened coffee drinkers know that their buying choices can make a difference to the lives and health of the workers who tend and harvest coffee. They are also becoming aware of the environmental effects coffee growing can have on the soil, water, and birds of the region where the coffee is grown.

It's Cold - Should I Warm Up the Car?

Although you might think it's easier on your car to let it sit and gently warm up, doing so is a bad idea for a number of reasons. Most importantly, it does indeed waste gas. The problem is, letting your car sit and idle is the slowest way to bring it up to operating temperature. And this method to warm up also invites other problems.
